They Have Been a Guide

a Light . . . an Inspiration

Because we admire them, because they are sincere in their desire to see us go forward, because they are down-to-earth, approachable and friendly, and because they have been a guiding light, we dedicate this book to Mrs. Julia Hall and Mrs. Lucy M. Harrison.

FOREWORD

This has been a year of pleasant experiences, many interesting and likeable people--the Stephens-Lee family--people we'll never forget.

In words and pictures, we are recording the experiences of the school year 1962-63 and the people who played a part in developing them. We hope that you will keep this family album among your memoirs so that you will always be reminded of your years at Stephens-Lee.

It is with pride and pleasure that we present this 1963 edition of the BEAR.

A TEACHER CAN NEVER TELL WHERE HIS INFLUENCE STOPS

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE TO SENIORS

Congratulations, members of the Class of 1963!

It has been a real pleasure to know you and work with you during this important period of your life. It is our hope that you have gained much to prepare you to reach the goal you have set for yourself; that each of you will pursue with diligence that goal and reach it.

We shall watch with interest your progress and hope your associations with your classmates, schoolmates and teachers will contribute immeasurably to your progress as you strive toward your life's goal.

Sincerely yours,

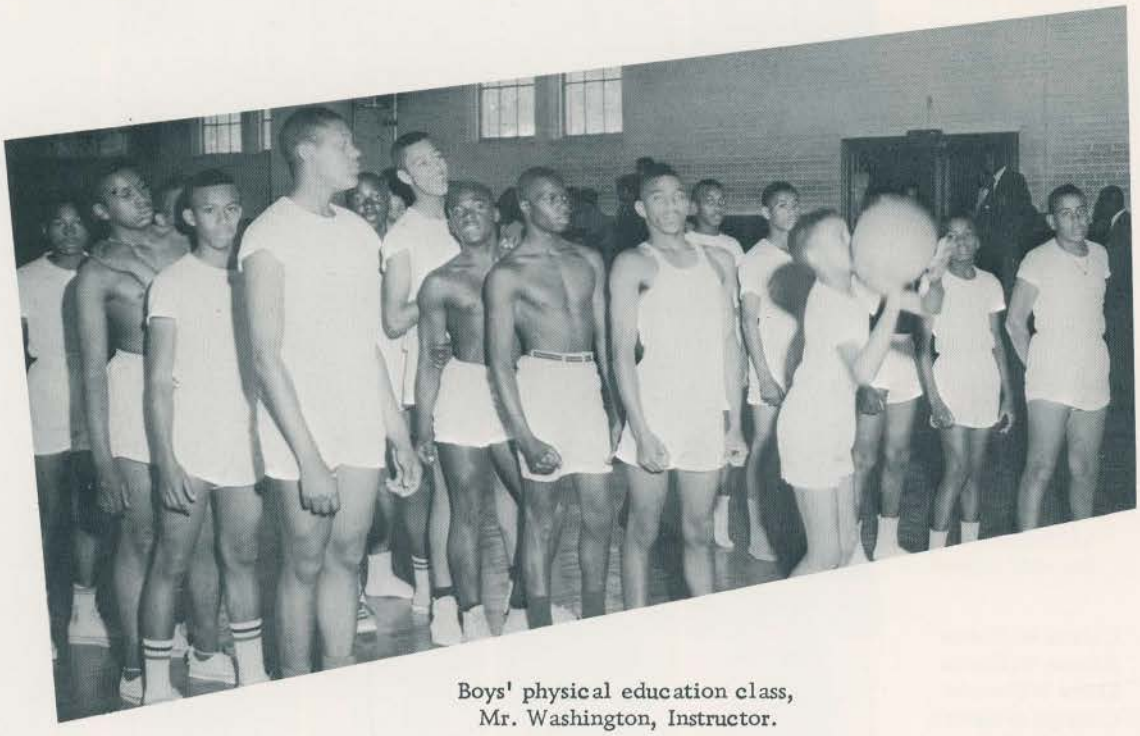
Freshmen develop healthy bodies in physical education. This course is a requirement for all freshmen.



Boys' physical education class,
Mr. Washington, Instructor.

Girls' Physical Education class,
Miss Chappelle, Instructor

We prepare our youth to meet challenges by providing extra activities for them. We believe that there should be some diversion from the regular school work. Above, students await the beginning of the annual Homecoming parade.

ORGANIZATIONS

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council Cabinet outlines plans for solving some school-wide problem. L. to R.: Cheryl Harper, William Young, Michael Wilson, Joyce Hadden, Mayor James Jefferson, Vice Mayor Gerald Fant, Maurice Farr, and Patricia Johnson.

Mayor James Jefferson presides over a Student Council meeting. The Council serves as a mediator between the student body and the administration.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY . . .

. . . Promotes Character, Leadership, Scholarship, and Service.

Juniors are inducted into Crown and Scepter Club of the National Honor Society. They are Arthur Davidson, Carolyn Jackson, Joe Cynthia Logan, Patricia Johnson, Cheryl Ruth, Olivia Nesby, Sharon Northcutt, and Herbert Moore.

The Stephens-Lee Band is a respected group in the Asheville Community. It participates in all city parades, in State festivals and clinics.

The marching band poses in its new uniforms prior to the Homecoming Parade.

The high-stepping majorettes of Stephens-Lee always rate a word of praise from local reporters when they appear publicly. These lovely girls are trained by Miss K. L. Chappelle.

THE PLAYMAKERS

Drama

Students help to promote a cultural atmosphere in the school. Rehearsing for a production are members of the speech and drama classes who make up the Playmakers.

USHERS

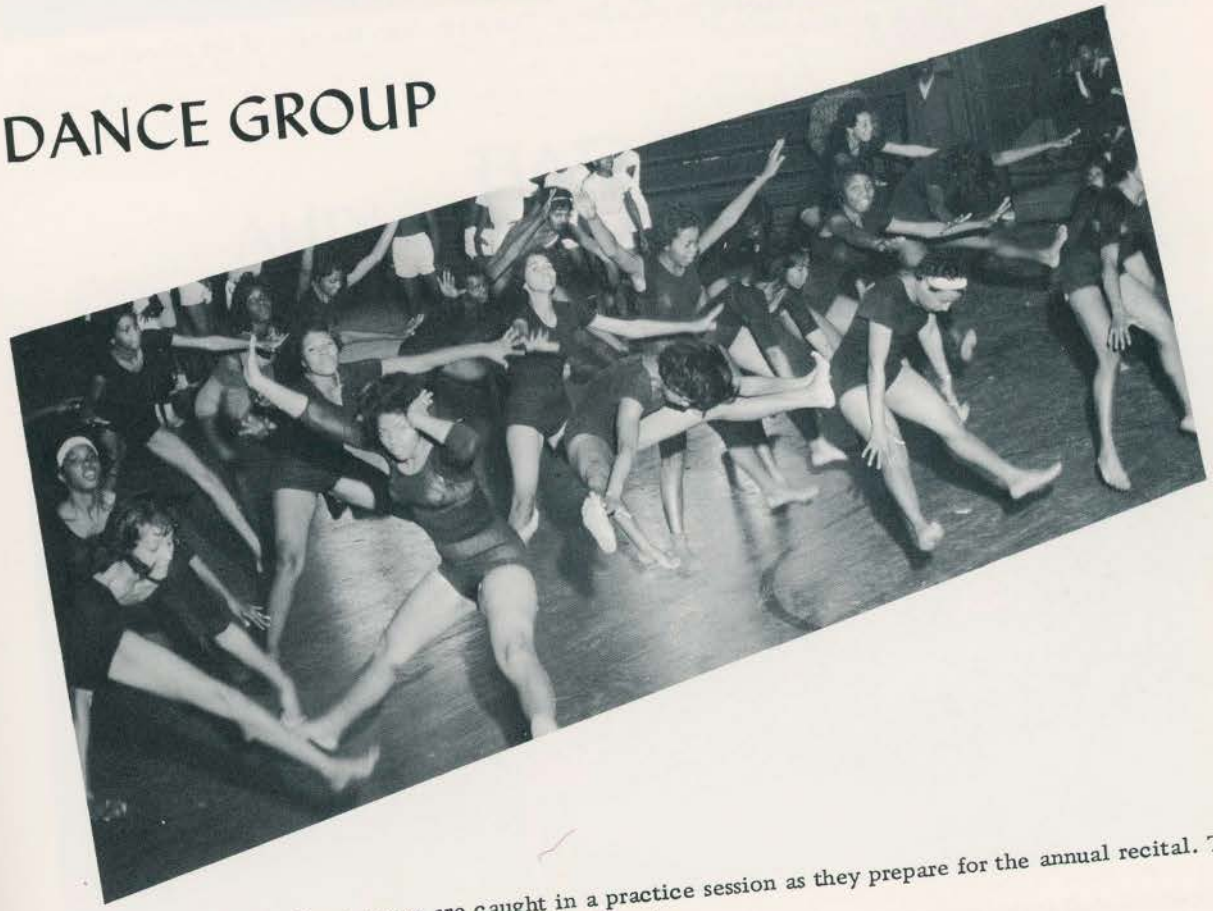
CHORAL CLUB

Music is the universal language. Under the direction of Mrs. O. M. Reynolds, the Choral Club is available for community appearances, as well as school assemblies.

DANCE GROUP



Members of the dance group are caught in a practice session as they prepare for the annual recital. The girls learn creative, interpretative, and popular dances.

SKYLIGHTER STAFF

The Bear and Skylighter staffs offer training in journalism. The staffs keep the news of the school before the student body and before the community.

BEAR STAFF

NEW HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

AUDIO-VISUAL AIDS CLUB

These young men are indispensable in the school program. They efficiently operate all audio-visual equipment in the school. They are trained by Mr. Cowan.

JUNIOR COUNSELORS

JUNIOR RED CROSS

The Junior Red Cross is one of the service groups in the school. This group assists with the total program of the local chapter of the American Red Cross.

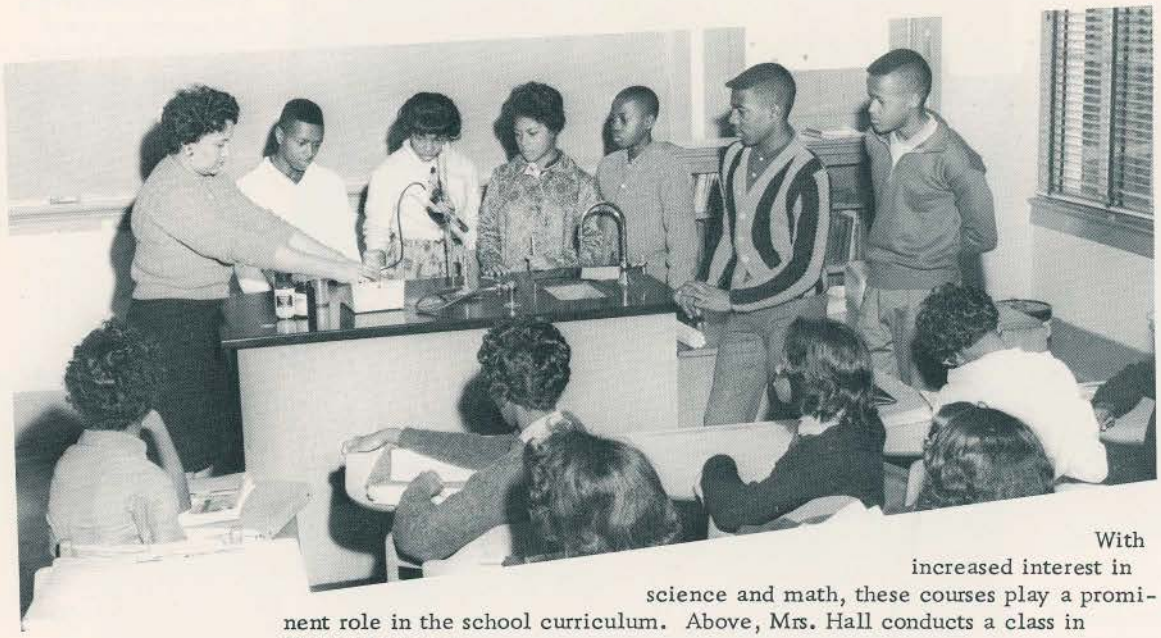
Y-TEENS

The Y-Teens teach worldwide fellowship. Also a service group, the members meet regularly at the new YWCA on French Broad.

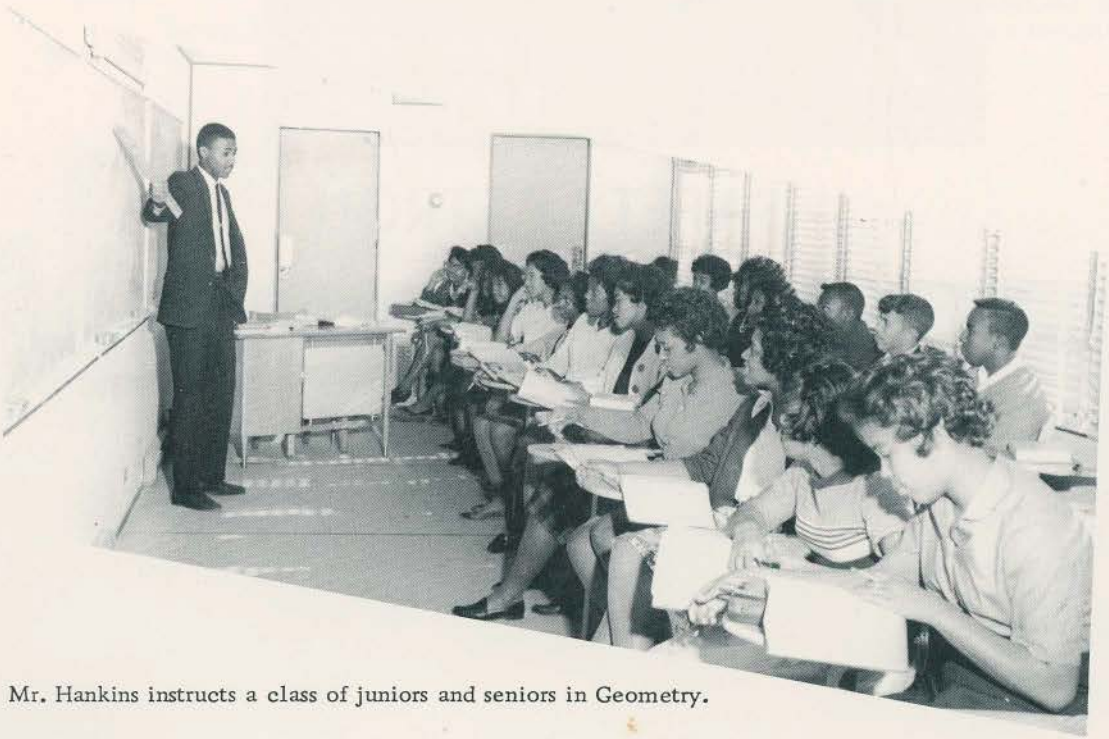
SAFETY PATROL

Safety Patrol members are on duty in the corridors at all times to help curb noise and to insure rapid movement from one place to another. The patrol operates through the Student Council.

THE CURRICULUM IS GEARED



With increased interest in science and math, these courses play a prominent role in the school curriculum. Above, Mrs. Hall conducts a class in Physical science.



Mr. Hankins instructs a class of juniors and seniors in Geometry.

TO MEET STUDENTS NEEDS

A popular course at Stephens-Lee is Typing. Students learn skill in this class.

Miss Kennedy, school secretary, supervises the practice work of some future secretaries who do apprentice work in the school office. Assisting are left-to Right: Diane Blakely, Mary Christopher, Rita McCorkle, and Barbara Underwood. Janivian James is at the typewriter.

In Vocational Home Economics, girls learn to cook and to sew. Above, Joanne Watley sews on her spring outfit.

Linda Roland and Cythnia Calhoun practice their cooking skill by making candied apples.

Students learn all about their environments and how to get along with others in their sociology classes. Miss Pierce leads a discussion on marriage problems in her senior sociology class.

Driver training is a requirement of tenth graders. Such training will make better drivers of our youth and reduce the number of accidents. Mr. Moore teaches driver education in one of the new trailers.

The library affords a quiet place for students to study. They realize that good study habits make for better scholarship, and that good scholarship helps them to meet today's challenges.

Mrs. Belton, school librarian, instructs her student assistants in the duties of a library staff. Student assistants help in checking out books, in rounding up stray or lost books, and help in keeping the library clean and attractive.

The Industrial Education Center of Asheville gives high school boys valuable training in courses that will fit them for industrial or business jobs. The boys who attend the Center in the afternoon, are L. to R.: Raymond Hawkins, William Hemphill, Curtis Earle, Gerald G. Fant, James Jackson, James McIntosh, and Alvin Jones.

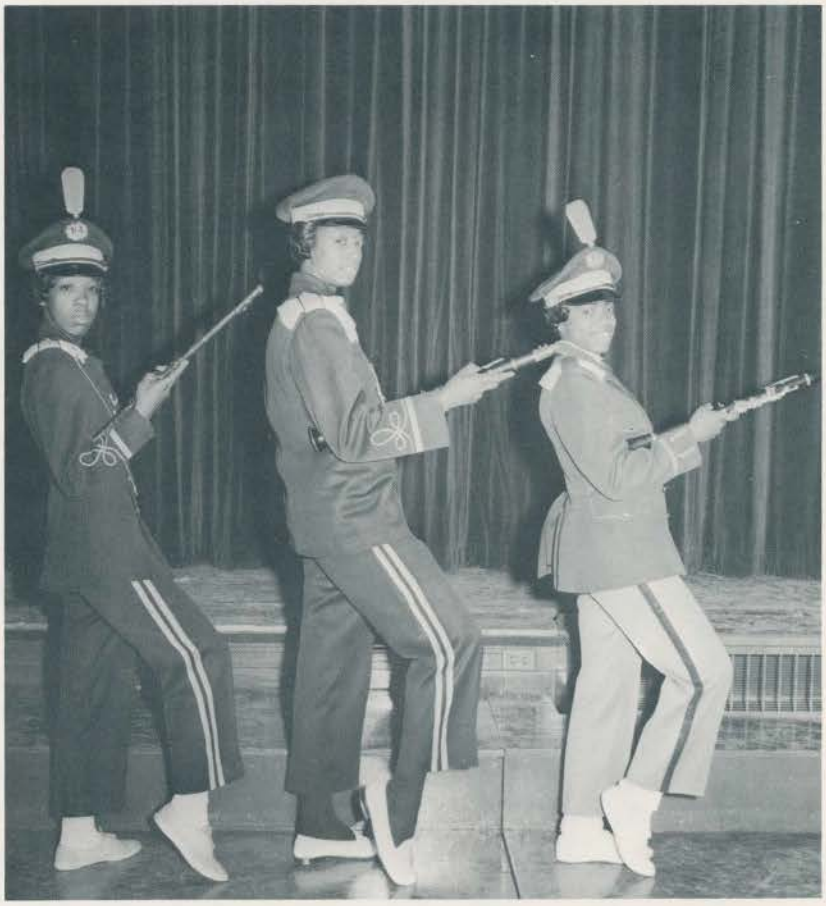
FAMILIAR SCENES AROUND STEPHENS-LEE

THE ROYAL COUNTS

"In saecula saeculorum" - - - Forever and ever. L. to R.: Jesse Ray, Felix Polly, Kenzil Summey, Robert Foster, Donald Geer, and Millus Turman.

The lunchroom is one of the most favored places in the building as evidenced by the crowd that frequents it during the lunch hour. Here, nourishing meals are served for a nominal fee.

A THREE-SOME THAT KEEPS THE BAND IN ORBIT



THE SWINGING THREE
L. to R.: Joan Tucker, Jeannette Friday, and Jeannette Stevenson.
